LIBRARIAN, MEERUT UNIVERSITY, MEERUT (India)

This distinctive bibliographical compilation aims to provide an index unrivalled in scope and depth of every aspect of Indian Constitutional development, the Constitution and Constitutional Law. It lists 7,000 documents available in the form of books, pamphlets, doctoral theses, master dissertations, articles published in learned journals and dailies, discussions of synopsis, seminars published in English language in India and abroad and debates of the Indian Constituent Assembly; Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha.

To facilitate the use, the book has been divided into three parts:
1. Indian constitutional development; 2. the Constitution; and
3. Constitutional law.

Under parts 1 and 3 the documents have been listed by chronological order. The listing under part 2 is in the same order as per Articles of the Constitution. In order to ease the location of the original documents, Classified Catalogue Rules for bibliographical compilation have been strictly followed.
This bibliography is an essential working tool for librarians, University departments research institutions, legislators, lawyers and indeed for all.
